

I would like to comment on Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election.

This is clearly electioneering and not the correct use of the public airwaves, which you administer. Sinclair's sole purpose is to affect the outcome of an election, not inform the public. If they are allowed to do this then democracy and the free press are both severely damaged. This is an example of what happens when media consolidation occurs and large blocks of public airwaves are controlled by a few. Balance, fairness and journalism go out the window.

We need to strengthen media ownership rules.
